Partner Impact Report

2020

From the Mayor

Jacksonville is on the rise! Despite the challenges that Jacksonville has faced in 2020, we are a resilient and tenacious city, and I am confident that Jacksonville will continue to succeed. With our business-friendly environment and thousands of job opportunities across a variety of industries and sectors, our economic momentum continues to increase, enhancing our growing reputation as an amazing place to live, work and play.

“...we are a resilient and tenacious city, and I am confident that Jacksonville will continue to succeed.”

When I was elected five years ago, I committed to build and renew partnerships that bolster the economies of distressed and emerging communities throughout Jacksonville, while maximizing the return on investment for taxpayers. Joining me in these efforts are some amazing partners, including the Downtown Investment Authority, Jacksonville Aviation Authority, Jacksonville Port Authority, Jacksonville Sports Council, Jacksonville Transportation Authority, JAXUSA Partnership, JEA, Office of Economic Development, Sports and Entertainment Division and Visit Jacksonville.

This Economic Development Partner Impact Report details the results of our collaborative efforts to strengthen our local economy and increase opportunities for the people of Jacksonville. In the last year, we have seen significant job growth in a number of industries, including numerous high-skilled and high-wage positions.

Thanks to all partners for their leadership, cooperation, teamwork and vision, and the Northeast Florida Regional Council for its contributions to this report. Because of our combined efforts, Jacksonville is in a strong position for even greater success in the years ahead.

Sincerely,

LENNY CURRY
Mayor

Economic Impact Model

How Annual Impact Is Calculated

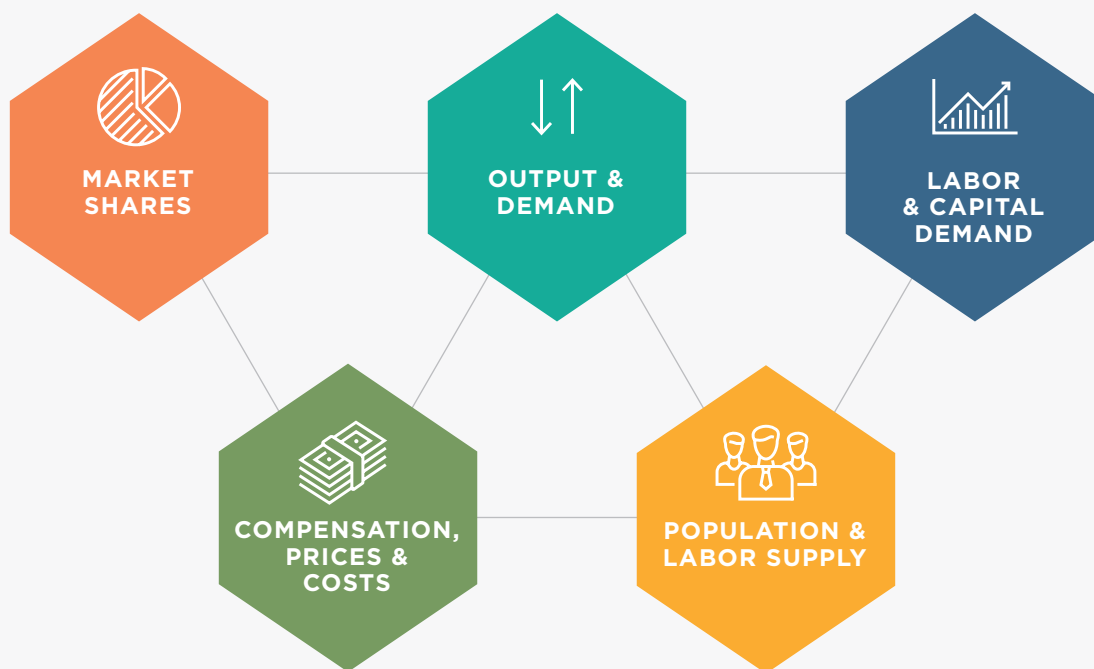

The Regional Economic Models, Inc. (REMI) model, often called an “econometric model,” is the economic simulation scenario used to provide data and analysis of economic development projects as outlined in this report.

Completed by the Northeast Florida Regional Council (NEFRC), the economic simulation scenario is conducted on economic development projects from July 1, 2019, through June 30, 2020.

The REMI model incorporates aspects of four major modeling approaches— Input-Output, General Equilibrium, Econometric and Economic Geography— to calculate the aggregate economic impact of the year’s projects.

The major economic data source used is the Bureau of Economic Analysis for sector industries, wages, personal income and earnings. The model consists of thousands of simultaneous equations with a structure that is relatively straightforward, captures the region’s industry structure and accounts for the impact of changes in industries closely tied to the local economy.

The overall structure of the model can be summarized in five major blocks:

Some of these projects may take several years to come into full fruition. Consideration of them all in 2020 allowed the NEFRC to control for anomalies that would be created by varying build-out dates.

This scenario considers all of the projects at their maximum potential in the current year and is representative of the long-term annual impacts of the projects.
